Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 23 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy and damp, but brighter later.

Today:
A largely cloudy morning, with a little light rain developing, especially over the hills. Becoming dry and brightening up at times during the course of the afternoon. Mild but a little breezy. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry. Cloud breaking from the south during the evening with some clear spells developing fairly widely by midnight. Risk of some mist and fog patches developing by dawn. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Friday:
Any morning mist or fog lifting into low cloud, and breaking to give some bright spells. A band of persistent rain arrives across the West Midlands later during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Turning colder Christmas Day, perhaps with a little rain. After a damp start, Boxing Day may brighten up. Another rather cloudy day then looks likely on Monday with patchy rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.